Legendary pro Sam Snead became the first player to shoot his age on the PGA Tour with a 67 on Friday. He did that one better with a Sunday 66, but finished 36th. Meanwhile, second-year pro D.A. Weibring scored the first of three Quad-Cities wins and five career victories. Like Payne Stewart, Weibring remembers his first win here fondly because his late father was on hand to see it. The 1979 tournament was the last known as the Ed McMahon Quad-Cities Open.
