By winning a remarkable five-hole playoff, former club pro J.L. Lewis scored his first career win in the last of 25 PGA Tour stops at Oakwood Country Club in Coal Valley, Ill. Lewis birdied 18 to force a playoff with Mike Brisky, then ended the first John Deere Classic with a birdie on their second playoff trip to the 16th hole. Earlier, he had holed a bunker shot for birdie at 16 to extend the gripping sudden-death battle. Brisky followed an opening 4-under 66 with a second-round 62 to set a midway tournament scoring record of 12-under 128.
