Blaine McCallister tied the PGA Tour record for lowest consecutive rounds by following a second-round 8-under 62 with a third-round 63.

McCallister sandwiched a pair of 68s around the two en route to a three-shot win. His 19-under par total is still the second lowest final score in JDC history. His 15-under consecutive-round total, previously accomplished on Tour only by Gay Brewer in 1967 and Ron Streck in 1978, was matched by John Cook in separate Tour events in 1996 and 1997, but remains a Tour record.
